

THE COLEMAN BULLETIN

VOL. II, NO. 14

COLEMAN, ALBERTA, JULY 24, 1913

$1.50 PER YEAR

Card of Thanks

We thank the good people of Coleman and neighboring towns for the generous support accorded our three days sale.

Never before in Coleman have we had such a crush of eager buyers, and although we had many extra sales people employed our apologies are due to many customers who we feel did not receive proper service.

We enter stock and close the half years business on the night of July 31st. In going through our stock of merchandise handling piece by piece, we will doubtless find many articles that we will determine to clear at a cut price rather than enter in stock.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO LOOK IN EVERY DAY AND SEE WHAT IS ON THE BARGAIN TABLE.

W. L. OUIMETTE

Go To The Bulletin
For Your Job Work

His Worship The Mayor and Council,
Town of Coleman,
Alberta.

Gentlemen:—
We beg to report that we have audited the Town books for quarter ended 30th June 1913, and that all our requirements have been compiled with. The accompanying Statement of Receipts and Payments has been taken from the books, and is, in our opinion, a true and correct statement.

Yours truly,
W. A. HENDERSON & Co.
Chartered Accountants.

TOWN OF COLEMAN

Statement of Receipts and Payments 1st January to 30th June 1913

| RECEIPTS | | |
|-------------------------------------|------------|------------|
| School | $763.05 | |
| Town | 710.54 | |
| Old Tax recovered | 13.30 | $1,487.49 |
| License and Police: | | |
| Dog Taxes | 8 | 203.25 |
| Licenses | $1,040.00 | |
| Less Refund | 10.00 | 1,033.00 |
| Fines | 66.75 | 1,333.00 |
| Fire and Light: | | |
| Fire Fighting | 112.50 | |
| Park Receipts | 10.00 | |
| Rent of Town Building | 30.00 | |
| Notes Discounted | 11,700.00 | |
| Balance Overdrawn at 30th June 1913 | 65.78 | 14,738.77 |

| PAYMENTS | | |
|--------------------------------------|----------|-----------|
| Debt Balance as at 1st January 1913 | $ 80.85 | |
| Debt of Bankers | 214.60 | |
| Interest and Exchange | 3.00 | |
| Poll Tax Refunded | | |
| Salaries | 1,157.26 | |
| Printing, Advertising and Stationery | 63.55 | |
| Postage | 8.10 | |
| Fire Hall Expenses | 253.40 | |
| Town Building Maintenance | 64.15 | |
| Street Lighting | 24.00 | |
| Town Hall | 160.00 | |
| General Expenses | 10.40 | |
| 1912 Tax Refunded | 11.70 | |
| Health and Relief | 28.60 | |
| Scavenging | 6.30 | |
| Police Expenses | 2.00 | |
| Schools District | 5,000.00 | |
| Surplusance | 106.00 | |
| Notes Paid | 6,500.00 | |
| | | 14,627.14 |
| | | 14,738.77 |

DROWNED IN OLD MAN RIVER

Little Annie Wolny, Seventeen Months Old, Tumbled Into River on Wednesday Evening While at Play.

On Wednesday evening the little seventeen month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Wolny was drowned in the Old Man river, over in what is locally known as Bush Town.

Details of the sad affair are difficult to obtain, but from what The Bulletin could learn it seems that Little Annie was last seen by her mother about 8 o'clock in the evening, when she was playing about with a number of other children. Shortly after nine o'clock, neighbor carried the lifeless body home to the grief-stricken parents.

The water was only about eight inches deep at the point where the sad accident occurred, and it is presumed the little tot lost her balance and tumbled in while playing near the bank.

As we go to press the exact hour of the funeral is not known, but it is expected interment will take place on Friday.

SUCCESSFUL EXCURSION

A combined excursion of the Anglican Sunday School between Macleod and Coleman took place on Tuesday of this week to Crows Nest and was well patronized by all the towns interested.

The special train left Macleod at 7:45 and reached its destination in good time. There was some rain between 9 and ten o'clock, but otherwise the weather was ideal for the outing.

Baseball, football, tug-of-war and other athletic sports were indulged in, St. Albans Boys Club defeating the Peigan Indians in football to the tune of 8-0. The baseball score was not available to press.

Among the clergymen present were Rev. Bathurst Hall, of Macleod; Rev. Haines, missionary at the Peigan Reserve; Rev. J. R. Gretton, Pincher Creek, and Rev. D. J. Watkins-Jones and Rev. A. C. Tate, of Coleman.

FORFEITED BAIL

The police have recently received a number of complaints regarding the use of profane language on the streets and as a result two men were on the carpet before Magistrate Morrison on Thursday morning charged with this offence. Both were fined, one of them also forfeiting his ball for non-appearance. Another case of the same nature comes up on Friday morning and the police declare they are determined to put a stop to the use of profane and obscene language on the streets.

COLEMAN VICTORIOUS

At 7:00 o'clock last Saturday night the Coleman Football team locked horns with the Hillcrest aggregation and played the most interesting game that has been pulled off on the grounds this season. Coleman won by the score of 21-2.

The Hillcrest team started off with a rush and succeeded in penetrating the Coleman nets in the first five minutes of play. Shortly after, the local boys getting in shape took the ball down the field and scored.

In the second half Coleman scored again bringing two more points to their credit in the league. Kellogg, starred for the locals getting both goals.

This game puts Coleman at the top of the league on points for games played. Now that they are on their winning streak and playing such good football, it seems a shame that the townspeople do not turn out better and boost also donate a little loose change to help them along. They are a little short financially, so turn out to the next game and help them all you can.

Their journey to Fernie next Saturday to play with that team and are confident of adding two more points to their credit.

James Howl and George Murr, both of the Coleman Hotel journeyed to the Crow's Nest last week to spend the day and get sun-burned. They failed to get their bags full of fish but got "burned".

BLAIRMORE LOSES IN TENNIS

Local Players Carry Off the Laurels in Tournament by Score of 8 to 3—Those Who Took Part in the Games.

An interesting tennis tournament was held between the clubs of Blairmore and Coleman on the grounds of the local club on Wednesday, July 18, resulting in a victory for the home team by 8 points to 4. There was a large attendance of the fair sex, and tea was served on the grounds by the ladies interested in the club. Following is a list of the players who com-

Men's Doubles

C. S. Ghinnett C. H. Hiscocks
D. A. McAuley L. P. Roberts

E.C.A. Crawford Dr. Baker
J. H. Farmer

J. McTeegan —Blairmore

R. R. J. Phenix H. Taitte
W. P. Stopford H. E. Lyons

A. Joseph Const. Hancock

C. Gower H. G. Bigelow

S. Pizer Const. Hancock
H. C. McBurney H. Bigelow

E. McDonald R. M. Brincoe

W. D. Strand W. Roberts

Men's Singles

E. D. Black J. H. Farmer

D. A. McCaulay H. M. Bennett

F. R. J. Phenix H. G. Bigelow

C. S. Ouimette Dr. Baker

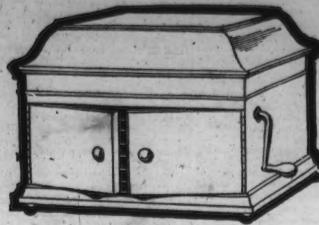

Mixed Doubles

E. D. Black C. H. Hiscocks

Miss Hilling Miss Smith

E.C.A. Crawford H. E. Lyons

Miss Dianey Mrs. Hiscocks

We have received a shipment of Victor-Victrolas this is the latest type, the tone of this instrument cannot be equaled. We carry a good stock of records. Come in and hear favorite sing or play a selection.

H. C. McBurney

Phone 44

Druggist

Sunday House 2.00 p. m. to 3.00 p. m.
9:00 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Dunfords' Elk Shoes

Work Shoes For Men, Made From Genuine Elk Skin and Made to Last

Men's Tan Elk Blucher

12 inch top Splendid Value

$7.00

Men's Black Elk Blucher

9 inch top Splendid Value

$5.75

Men's Black Elk Blucher

6 inch top Splendid Value

$4.25

Men's Black and Tan Elk Blucher

6 inch top Splendid Value

$3.50

Cecil Gower THE MEN'S STORE

The COLEMAN HOTEL

W. H. MURR, Proprietor

THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Coleman

Alberta

T. W. DAVIES

Funeral Director and Embalmer

Headstones Supplied and Set up
COLEMAN Residence Phone 143 ALBERTA

PRESIDENT SUSPENDER NONE SO EASY

KRUGER RELICS Have Been Transported From Holland to a Transvaal Museum

Wanted to be Realistic
She could not see his face so he knelt and asked her to be his. She was glad that, for she did not wish to know how much suffering her refusal caused him.

She told him as gently as she could that their lives could not be linked together. She was too young for him and seemed to feel that it would be risking his future as well as her own to consent to a union where she was not so affinely suited. She was too young for him and she threw so much heart into it that she did not observe that he was taking notes in shorthand. When she had concluded her arose and put his notes book in his pocket. Extending his hand, he remarked, gently:

"I'm ever and ever so much obliged to you."

"Send it to me nicely, and I'm under a thousand obligations. I'm writing a novel, and I have a scene in which a girl refuses to marry a man. I was anxious to avoid the stereotyped style of denouncing such and such a male, it didn't fit. You're the seventh girl I have proposed to, and every one of the others accepted me. If you had said: Yes, I think I'd have been completely discouraged."

Minard's Liniment used by Physician

A Guaranteed Article
Two travellers in the fireproof safe had been solicited orders from merchant who desired to below his chamber upon the one whose advocacy proved the most convincing.

Well, remarked Number One, a cat was put in one of the safe for a fire, raged through the safe for four hours, and the animal came out alive.

A cat was put in one of our safes, asserted Number Two. The safe stood for four hours, and the animal was taken dead.

Ah! snorted Number One triumphantly.

Yes, added Number Two. The cat was frozen to death.

Number Two got the order.

Relief from Asthma—Who can describe the complete relief from suffering which comes to the sufferer from Dr. Kellner's Asthma Remedy? Who can express the feeling of joy that comes when its soft and gentle influence relieves the tightened, choking air tubes? It will make asthmatic asthma a thing of the past for ever and ever. It never fails. Good druggists everywhere have sold it for years.

The teacher was endeavoring to teach the class to distinguish the association of different species of life with common substances.

For instance, she explained, you will always find plants where there is soil, now. Can anyone tell me what we associate with fish?

Suddenly, with the velocity of an acrobatic, a hand shot up from the back row. It was the property of Tommy Jones. Please, miss, I know, papa, was fishy!

Well, was the teacher's query. Chips, was the unexpected reply.

Might Make a Mistake

I have often stood in a slaughter house, observed the fleshy man from Chicago, while the butchers were killing hogs and men. Oh, I know, when there are trucks and so on. Now can anyone tell me what we associate with fish?

Suddenly, with the velocity of an acrobatic, a hand shot up from the back row. It was the property of Tommy Jones. Please, miss, I know, papa, was fishy!

Well, was the teacher's query.

Chips, was the unexpected reply.

A Record in Laziness

The laziest man is reported in Arkansas, where he conducts a shoe store in a little town. A woman entered his shop one day and said she wanted to buy a pair of shoes. The man who was sitting in a box at one end of his establishment looked at her, yawned wearily, and then said: I can't wait on you to-day. Come in some time when I'm standing up.

Pat had just finished chopping the sticks for the good lady, and she beamed at him. He asked her whether he would prefer a cup of tea or a drop of whisky.

Sure I'll be takin' a drop of the creature, if you don't mind, said Pat. So she brought him a glass of whisky, and he said, "Well, what's the water?"

Pat tasted, and seemed not very well pleased.

Beggin' your pardon, mum, and which did ye after puttin' in the water? The water, or the whisky?"

The whisky, first, of course, which is proper, she replied.

Oh, it'll be all right, then. I'll be comin' to the whisky by and by.

Why don't you buy an automobile? I get sufficient excitement out of the management of my fountain pen.

A Remained Hours

He remained hours at a time, at Venetia, California, charged with shaving the head of his bride in a fit of jealous rage to make her look unattractive in the eyes of other men.

The bride, who is only seventeen, and her young husband, who is only eighteen, though he out-powered her, clapped her tresses close, and then applied lather and razor till her head looked like a billiard ball.

A Washington man and his wife, whose domestic complications are frequent but not serious, had one evening called upon a married couple. On their way home, the husband, who could say it was an ideal marriage, really I believe they both think absolutely alike.

Charming people, charming people! said the woman. But about the thinking Gladys, if you will notice, she generally thinks first.

The Male—But how will getting along through windows get you the the way?

The Militant—Don't you remember Shakespeare on sermons in stone?

Young man, we need brains in our business.

I know you do. That is why I'm looking for a job here.

KRUGER RELICS Have Been Transported From Holland to a Transvaal Museum

Certain relics of Paul Kruger are to have a resting place in the Transvaal museum. In view of the court's appeal decision at the Hague, judgment was given in the appeal brought by M. Hiddo Nyland, the defendant in the action instituted by Dr. Leyda and Dr. Breyer for the restoration of certain South African relics and other objects of interest sent by Oom Paul which formed the nucleus of the South African museum established by M. Nyland at Dordrecht.

The court upheld the provisional decision of the Dordrecht court which rejected the application of the Boer and the action instituted by Dr. Leyda and Dr. Breyer to have the restoration of certain South African relics and other objects of interest sent by Oom Paul which formed the nucleus of the South African museum established by M. Nyland at Dordrecht.

The court upheld the provisional decision of the Dordrecht court which rejected the application of the Boer and the action instituted by Dr. Leyda and Dr. Breyer to have the restoration of certain South African relics and other objects of interest sent by Oom Paul which formed the nucleus of the South African museum established by M. Nyland at Dordrecht.

His Name was George
The never-to-be-ignited George surveyed the bride's two week's shopping firewood in the back garden.

I should have thought it was your husband's place to do that shopping he remarked, and with a smile on the way to keep husband down.

But, Mrs. Morgan, stammered the newly-wedded proudly defending the absent one, George has more import to do than shopping in his mind than chopping firewood.

And haven't you snapped the wooden rights advocate?

Why no, rejoined the bride blushing a little. All I have on my mind is George!

The only unoccupied room in the hotel was with a private bath in connection with which was given to a stranger from Kansas. The next morning the clerk was approached by the guest when the latter was ready to check out.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk asked.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came.

In a twinkle the capital was transformed into an armed camp. For the next day the troops were massed in the station, in every nook on which lurked policemen, who were disguised as soldiers, and the station approached through a gay crowd with the King and other notable guests arrived.

Well, you have a good night's rest, the clerk said.

No, I didn't, replied the Kansas. The room was all right, and the bed was pretty good, but I couldn't sleep very well. I have a headache and some of the time I want to take a bath and the only door to it was through my room.

Come here, Phoebe, was the importunate companion of another housewife in the commune zone. I want to show you something.

Yassum! answered Phoebe, wiping her hands on her apron.

Entertaining a Czar

It must be a great honor to be invited to the Czar of All the Russias. When King George arrived in Berlin to attend the wedding of the Kaiser's daughter and Prince Ernest of Bavaria he was accorded a popular welcome. He ran through what display of soldiers and what show of horses and Hock! and Hurras! and what display of soldiers there was, was suggestive only of the possible importance of the visit and the importance of the King and the King's forces. But what a difference when the Czar came

Confession of a Girl Graduate

A Story For Commerce

ment

By EDITH V. ROSS

When I was a little girl there was a boy in the high school of whom great things in a scholarly way were expected. He not only stood first in his class, but showed an originality that astonished the teachers. Alan Broadwell was his name, and at the time I first heard of him and his remarkable brain he was fifteen years old. He then prepared to go to college, but his father would not permit him to go until he was two years older.

I was then thirteen, the age when a girl's mind is very bold and eager to aspire to things less childhood and more womanlike. I had two brothers, Tom and Jim—Tom a year older than Alan, and Jim a year younger. One May morning, when I was sitting on the porch reading a romance, Alan Broadwell came in at the gate and asked if Tom was at home. "I told him not to come in the house and I would go and find him."

That was all that was required of me. Alan wouldn't bestow a thought on me for a companion, and yet,

"I PUT MY HANKIECHIEF TO MY EYES." Though I was a child to him, he was a good deal to me—a tall, handsome, intellectual boy—and I would have given a year of my life for a single word or even look indicating his slightest interest in me.

When Alan was graduated at college he was made assistant professor of English literature at his alma mater, the University of Alberta. I was a senior, and when I became twenty I entered for a degree. My brother Tom had gone far away, and Professor Broadwell, who was just entering upon his duties as an instructor, was not aware that there was such a person as myself among the students. I did not make myself known to him, and I had so changed that he did not recognize me.

When my class reached a point where we were required to write essays we handed them in for inspection and correction to him. If there was a facility for anything in my dull brain it was for scribbling. At school my compositions always received the highest marks. When I wrote my first essay as a college student I did not even know how to begin, and I had to ask my teacher to help me. He said indifferently,

"He ran away to find his chum, and that evening was introduced to the professor as Tom's sister. There was real surprise expressed by the professor at this discovery by me. By this time I had made a very important impression upon my victim from that of a child, and from that time I was treated with the additional consideration of Tom's sister. I became under the professor's instruction proficient in the use of the English language and gave him credit for having infused a knowledge of the subject into my dull brain.

My next college chum came to an end I told Professor Broadwell that I should rely on him for advice with regard to my commencement oration. It was not that I wished to make a creditable exit from the university on taking my degree, but that I might take that other degree of M. A. L. before leaving him a prey to other women, and I was quite sure that I could bring him into my project very easily.

"This indenture," he said, "is not what I wanted. By making the substance of my essay good I would attract his attention. By putting in a great many errors I was likely to have them pointed out to me by the professor.

A few days after handing in my production I was asked to remain after lecture, and when the class had gone out I went up to the professor's desk and took up my seat and said to him,

"Miss Brown, you have a gift for writing, and it is a pity that your education in grammar and construction of sentences should be so deficient."

He opened my manuscript, and it was a sight to behold. There were innumerable scratches, potholes, P's with the tops turned down, with W's and B's with the tops turned up, with Y's and Z's with the tops turned down, and there with little fingers under them. Indeed, the whole essay looked as if a daddy longlegs had waded over a pool of ink, then strolled over the paper.

"One of the first rules of rhetoric," the professor went on, "is that the opening paragraphs should be perfect and not too brief. It should catch the attention of the reader and direct it toward what is to follow. I would divide your first paragraph here." And he put the tip of his pencil on one of his P's with the wrong side foremost, "I also observe," he continued, "that for a number of instances you have ended a sentence with a preposition, which is unadvisable. I would recommend you to learn the difference between 'shall' and 'will.' You have invariably used them incorrectly."

"I can't."

"Oh, yes, you can. It's very simple when you learn it, but it's very difficult to explain it to me, using the familiar illustration of the man in the water who intended to shout 'No one will save me; I shall drown,' but said instead 'No one shall save me; I will drown.' Then he gave me the grammatical rule for it all, and when he was done, I was more drawn and should act according to my understanding of his explanation, I would certainly forbid any one to help me. But I didn't tell him so. I still looked as if it were all clear to me."

He was certainly very kind to give all this information, and if I had had any conscience I should have been ashamed of myself that nine-tenths of it was mine. I was so satisfied with the errors on purpose, I thanked him at the end of his instructions and said that I would profit by them, which was deceptive, for I intended to make other mistakes in my next essay that would bring about a similar interview.

And so I did. On the second occasion of my calling again to upon him he was as kind as ever, but his professor complimented me even more highly on my handling of my subject than before, but he seemed to be much distressed on my deficiency of handling the English language. "You confuse the verbs 'to be' and 'to lay,'" he said, "the one meaning to recline, the other to place some thing." He gave me the grammatical construction, then asked me to give him an example. I said, "I will have lath the book on the table."

He looked at me with a mingled pity and distress and went over the ground again, which was what I wished him to do, for I had made the blunder purposefully. At the end of his second explanation he asked me for another example, and I said, "I lay down to rest." At this he gave me a look that spoke sharply to me, whereupon I put my handkerchief to my eyes to conceal tears that I could not stanch. At this he spoke to me not only gently, but I was rejoiced at perceiving tenderness in his voice.

"Pardon me, Miss Brown," he said: "I will not be so impatient with you as to teach you to write again, but these points in construction in time I have been anxious that you should acquire them because you are one of the best writers in your class. I will not call your attention to them again, but leave you to pick them up as you proceed."

"You mean that you're tired of trying to teach me," I whined.

"Not at all; not at all, I assure you. If you prefer it I will continue."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially." I had a hole in my shoe to a pair in my foot. This man was Victorian Sardou.

LUCKY YOUNGSTERS.

Some of Britain's Little Heirs to Vast Tracts of Land.

Who is the luckiest youngster in Britain? Examination of the peerage reveals many interesting cases of boys born to aristocratic parents and great family honors, the most fortunate, perhaps, being the five-year-old Earl of Arundel and Surrey, the son of the Duke of Norfolk, who is heir to both the Earldom and the title of Duke of Norfolk, owns 50,000 acres in some of the fairest English counties, a million a year, while the Duke of Norfolk, his father, has in his own right—16,000 acres.

The duke is a great landowner, owning the southeast side of the English Channel, the rent of which is £100,000. New buildings in Norfolk and Surrey streets have immensely augmented the rent roll, which has probably increased threefold in value.

Year previous to the birth of the Earl of Arundel and Surrey a son was born to the Marquis of Bute, "the eccentric millionaire of Scotland," who has been called, while his father left the enormous fortune of £6,000,000. His son and heir, the Earl of Dumfries, a bright, little youngster of six years of age, will inherit vast estates which cover 17,000 acres in addition to many titles. Lord Bute is the wealthiest peer in Scotland, although he does not possess quite so many acres as the Earl of Dalhousie, who came into an income of over £250,000 a year, and, as he is the son of a duke, when a boy of nine he is a prince.

Lord Bute, who was born in 1905, has two more instances of vast fortunes which will descend to lucky youngsters, not only from their fathers, but also from their mothers, are afforded by the cases of the Marquis of Blandford, son of the Duke of Marlborough, who died in 1905, and Viscount Mandeville, son of the Duke of Manchester, who was born eleven years ago. The Duke of Manchester owns some 70,000 acres of land, and is in possession of four titles, residence in two in England and five in Ireland. His wife, Miss Helena Zimmerman, daughter of an American railway magnate, whom he married in 1904, brought him much wealth, but the Duke of Manchester is the only one of the two whose fortune is more profound than that of many human beings, and a refined sensitivity of which numbers of us seem incapable.

"I owe limitless satisfaction to these creatures," he says, "that we sometimes call our inferior brothers. In what are they inferior? I discover no more in them than in us."

M. Poincare's simplicity of life is well illustrated by a remark made by his son, when he heard that he would probably be the next French President.

"I hope he will not be elected,"

she said. "Both he and madame will be very unhappy at the Elysee."

"I am sure that the next French President will be a good man,"

he said, "but I am not at all sure that he will be a good man."

"I am sure that you're tired of trying to teach me," I whined.

"Not at all; not at all, I assure you. If you prefer it I will continue."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

It happened at the Alhene in 1893. We were rehearsing the "Salome" of Armand Silvestre and Gabriel Piero. Between scenes one and two I encumbered a man with a handkerchief which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially." I had a hole in my shoe to a pair in my foot. This man was Victorian Sardou.

A City of Forty Mosques.

It happened at the Alhene in 1893. We were rehearsing the "Salome" of Armand Silvestre and Gabriel Piero. Between scenes one and two I encumbered a man with a handkerchief which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

I blushed now, years after I was aiming at this degree, and the devices I employed to which I had resorted during the period that I was handling my indenture which went several times around his neck and a tall hat of a style that came down over his ears. I chatted with the indifferent French I had at command, and said that I was knowing who he was. While talking to him I noticed a hole in his shirt. He was aware of my discovery. I suppose, for he said to me: "I had that hole made especially."

"I do prefer it," I said, drying my eyes, "I went to the door, the professor pointed, opened it for me, I maintained my composure, and when the door had closed behind me. Then I congratulated myself that I had made considerable advance toward obtaining the degree that was nearest my heart—M. A. L., or mistress of the art of love.

</div

The Coleman Bulletin

Published at the Bulletin Printing and Publishing House, Coleman, Alberta, every Friday.
SUBSCRIPTION PRICE
In Canada or the British Empire, to any where in Canada or the British Empire, to the United States or outside the British Empire, 25 cents per month cash must accompany all orders.

LEGAL ADVERTISING
Legal advertising will be charged at the rate of 12 cents per line for first insertion, and 8 cents per line for each subsequent insertion. Twelve lines to the inch.

LOCAL ADVERTISING
Local advertising will be charged 10 cents per line, body type count.

DISPLAY ADVERTISING
Display Advertising 25 cents per inch, per insertion. Contracting rates may be obtained at the business office.

R. L. NORMAN,
Editor

COLEMAN, ALTA JULY 24, 1913

An Apology

The publisher of The Bulletin offers sincerest apologies for the non-appearance of this paper for the past two weeks. Circumstances over which we did not have very much control combined to "play hob" with our office arrangements, and this is the cause of The Bulletin's temporary vacation.

The paper will be issued regularly hereafter on Thursday forenoon, instead of Friday as formerly, and will be under the personal direction of the editor.

Ten Million Dollars For Alberta

The Calgary News-Telegram has inaugurated a campaign whereby it is hoped to induce the Dominion Government to loan to the people of Alberta the sum of ten million dollars to tide us over the present financial stringency, and for its enterprise in this matter The Bulletin tenders sincerest congratulations to the above named journal.

The details of just how this money is to be handled should Premier Borden be prevailed upon to endorse the scheme have not been very fully presented by the News-Telegram up to the present time, but it is presumed there are plans along that line.

The Bulletin, however, cannot follow its Calgary contemporary when the latter suggests that Premier Borden should take the proposition up inasmuch as by so doing he would "make his government solid in the west for all time to come." If that is the extent of the News-Telegram's interest in the present scheme, then the sooner it is dropped the better. The paper referred to says the people's money should be loaned to the people at this time of financial difficulty, and the contention is correct; but the present Government, for any other Government, has no right to use the people's money to make itself "solid in the West for all time to come." Surely the News-Telegram has more substance and self respect than to stoop to any such petty subterfuge.

The suggestion, as The Bulletin above claims, is a splendid one, but for pity sake let us have a fair discussion of at least this one proposition without contaminating it by mixing in politics.

For Sale!

Lot 1, block 22, Second street, Coleman, with three houses on the lot. Rents for $38.00 per month. Price $1,600. $800 down balance in 12 months.

Coleman Realty Company

Current Comment

The long green will go a long way towards keeping a man from feeling blue.

The girl with beauty is the one to fall in love with. The one with the booty is the one to marry.

The entirely honest people of this old world, if they should all die at once, wouldn't cause much of a congestion at the Pearly Gates.

A Minneapolis man died there lately of lockjaw, superinduced by a bee sting. He was probably garrulous enough at the moment of contact.

A Boston dub says that if he had created the world he would have made all women beautiful. Wonder if he would have given all men brains!

If you are wealthy enough you can have any kind of disease you please, and pay $500 for advice not as efficient as ten cents worth of sulphur and molasses.

One pleasing characteristic of the hen is that she doesn't make a lot of noise until after she has delivered the goods. Unlike some people we know, biddy is no four-flusher.

People in this old world seem bound to be unhappy. The man who fails to win the girl is not satisfied—and the same often applies to the man who does.

A Pincher City young lady wants to know what is meant by alimony. Well, the word is merely a contraction of the word allhismoney. The meaning is obvious.

The Bible doesn't make any bigger story about the three little fishes than some of the local sports are trying to do at the present time. It beats all how fish grow once they have been caught.

The most sensible woman we have heard of for a long time is the Winnipeg lady who coaxed her hubby for enough money to buy a hat with—then changed her mind and bought a home, paying half down.

A waiter in a 'Peg restaurant caused a burglar to retreat by hitting him in the face with a pie. The method of defense was simple, and besides, the pie was probably not in the least incapacitated for further use along its regular line of endeavor.

Pencils are now being made from potatoe, and men's collars from milk. If some friend of humanity would only discover a method whereby the squeal of the croaker could be transformed into an article of diet, and the wasted energy of the knocker harnessed and used for motive power, what a grand thing it would be for Pincher Creek.

The Pincher Creek baseball boys have arranged a match with a team from the Summer School, which will be composed almost entirely of clergymen. The town boys are now busy searching the dictionary for a bunch of nice, polite words to hand any one of their number who happens to make a raw play. The preachers have the advantage in that respect. Should any of their players make a bone-head play they can relieve their feelings in Latin You see! There's always a way out.

EASTWOODThe Tailor*Samples of New Spring Suitings

From three first-class companies, just to hand... Come in and look them over.

Styles and Prices are Right

Ladies' and Gents' Cleaning, Repairing and Pressing.

Suits and Overcoats made to measure.

Out-of-town work promptly attended to. I pay express one way.

Grand Union HotelBarber Shop

Highclass
Haircuts
Shaves
Massage

H. HILL, Prop. ColemanEdmund Disney

Dealer and Contractor

Dealer in Lumber, Sash
Doors, Shingles, Lath
Cement and Plaster, etc.

Chloride of Lime for Spring Cleaning

Coleman Alberta

Plante & Antel*LIVERY, FEED AND SALE STABLE

Driving of every description attended to with promptness.
Good rigs and careful drivers for commercial and pleasure trade.
Charges moderate. Phone 98a.

FIREWOOD

Good dry, seasoned timber, the kind that it's a pleasure to build a fire with.
Logs or stove length, etc.

$5.00 PER LOAD

And don't forget you get a double box piled (not a single one). Leave your orders now, as we have a stock of good timber for all kinds of work.

Orders for Dry Work, Furniture
Moving or Livery executed on the shortest notice.

A. E. KNOWLES
Union Hardware Store Op. Tipple

DENTISTDR. O. F. FANSETT

Graduate Northwestern University

Office in Cameron block : Coleman.

Loof Lodge No. 26, meets in Eagle Hall every Monday at 7:30 p.m. Visiting brethren welcome.

S. F. MCLEOD, N.G. J. SWANN, F.S.

ALEX. M. MORRISON

NOTARY PUBLIC

REAL ESTATE
and INSURANCE

Reg. Births, Marriages, Deaths
Office in Drug Store, Coleman

L. H. PUTNAM
BARRISTER AND SOLICITOR

BLAIRMORE ALTA

PHONE 66 RING 3

Come on Along!

THE STAMPEDE
WINNIPEG

Will Make Winnipeg the Mecca of America

A Glorious, Gorgeous Gala Week for the West!
The Whirlwind That Draws the World to Winnipeg!
Life's Supreme Sensational Thrill to the Tenderfoot!
The Royal Tournament of the Passing Range!

SEATS FOR SIXTY THOUSAND

And something--- the like of which you never saw before---a new thrill every minute---going on all the time right before each and every one of the Sixty Thousand.

WINNIPEG EN FETE

The Metropolis of the west extends the heartiest invitation of her life to her Friends---Come and see how the city is growing. Two New Hotels, accommodation for all.

We have told you about the Stampede—but no one can realise how big—busy—thrilling—exciting
the Stampede is until he actually sees it.

Ask Calgary

Do not try by comparing with anything you have seen before.

A Contest with the Biggest Prizes Ever Offered.
The World as a Field, and the Sky the Limit.

Hundreds of Contestants, and a Whole Herd of Wild ones to Work on

You can never see the same thing twice. Complete different Programme every day. The first as good as the last; and the last as good as the first—No Special Day Features—Each and every day a day you'll remember as long as you live—
No Preparation Day—No Clean-up Day—No
Side Issues—No Midway—just

Begins
AUG.

9

Ends
AUG.
16

STAMPEDE

A One Price, One Gate and You See It All U
U
G Saturday to Saturday T

One Dollar at the Gate. 50c for Reserved Seats

Advance Sale—Admission and Reserved Seat, $1.50 Now Open, Stampede Headquarters. Mail Orders Given Prompt Attention.

One Fare for the Round Trip all C.P.R., C.N.R. and G.T.P. Points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Going Dates August 8th and 9th, Return Limit August 20th. Come and see Winnipeg on Parade, and the Sight of all Sights.

STAMPEDE

Stampede Headquarters---455 Main St., Winnipeg

GUY WEADICK, Manager

ARTISTIC JOB PRINTING

IS OUR HOBBY. WE DO THE BEST

The International Coal and Coke Company, Ltd.

Operates the Denison Collieries at

COLEMAN, ALTA.

Mines High-Grade Steam and Coking Coal.
Manufacturers of the Best Coke on the Market

MAKE MONEY EASY

If you would do so, invest in Town Lots in the Most Substantially Founded and Best Business Community in the Crows Nest Pass.

That Place is Coleman

Write to or Apply at the Head Office of
The INTERNATIONAL COAL & COKE CO., Ltd.,
COLEMAN, ALBERTA

Grand Union Hotel

Coleman, Alta.

BEST OF ACCOMMODATION
We Cater to the Working Man's Trade

G. A. CLAIR Proprietor

The Coleman Liquor Co.

French Clarets
and
Italian liquors
A Specialty

Wholesale liquors, Cigars & Tobaccos

Phone 59 Ring 3 Agent for CALGARY BREWING CO.

THE FRANK WINE AND SPIRIT COMPANY

Dealers in WINES,
LIQUORS and Cigars
We handle the Fernie
Beer and Soft Drinks

FRANK

ALBERTA

The Blairmore Auto Livery

Is Johnny-on-the-Spot for Hurry-Up Phone orders.

RIGS OR AUTOS A. W. ROBBINS Blairsburg RING US UP

TELEPHONE MEN QUIT

Four Hundred Linemen of British Columbia Company Strike

Vancouver, B.C.—Four hundred linemen of the British Columbia Telephone company, who struck work last week, causing a great inconvenience to the public, are still out with no prospect of early settlement since the company denies a conference on the points agitated by the employees.

It is claimed that the men under the Industrial Dispute Investigation Act, which provides for arbitration, have been refused by the company to a fine of $10 to $50 each for walking out without first submitting the dispute to arbitration. Mr. George Schinas, representing the men, claims it is not compulsory to submit to arbitration before striking. He says: "Mr. Farrell, president of the company has refused to meet the men and will not make any concessions. He says there can be arbitration arranged if the company is stubborn and will not consider grievances." For our part, we are prepared to meet Farrell, but he has nothing to offer and there is no necessity negotiations are at a standstill.

Morgenthaler denies that wages form an issue, but claims if the employees had been put on the same basis as their employees of the Pacific Coast would have been paid more. The men require double time for overtime and Sundays, that ratio of apprentices to journeymen be adjusted and that until this is done 25 per cent. increase in wages is demanded. He claims that the desired proportion of apprentices to journeymen has been fixed, although all other firms have adjusted the master on the basis of one apprentice to four journeymen. The company claims the men are receiving $4.25 per day, the highest wages paid on the market to such workmen and that the strike is unjustifiable. The company will not consider the question of limitation in number of apprentices.

WIDOWS' PENSIONS

Dr. Stevenson's Suggestion for Promoting Better Family Life

London.—On the advice of Dr. Hugh Stevenson, the Women's Canadian Club and the Union Mothers Club of Canada will petition the Dominion government to grant a per capita pension to widowed mothers with families. At a meeting held at the normal school, the club called for an attention of Canadian club members to the number of mothers who were being left without means of support in the city. He urged that the question receive prompt attention. Action will be taken before the present workmen's compensation act is considered by the provincial parliament. It is expected that strong deputations from many cities of the province will accompany the legislation within a short time.

Dr. Stevenson claimed that the best plan to follow would be to request the government to grant a standard pension to mothers of families. In this way the mothers would be induced to stay at home to rear their families in a proper manner and as a result save millions to the country by the prevention of the rearing of lawless men and women.

New York Crowds Beg for Treatment

New York.—Four hundred women and children hemmed in the automobile, begging him to treat them for tuberculosis. The crowd surrounded the German physician outside the hospital for deformities and joint diseases and a force of police reserves had to be sent to the hospital door. Physicians from all parts of the country earlier in the day gathered at Mount Sinai Hospital to watch Dr. Friedman, administrator of the clinic, who was referred to as the "other medical man" at the clinic were those of the government, who requested that the others be excluded. The hospital explained that the government physician feared that improvements from the clinic would be made before they presented their report to the government. Dr. Friedman, it was said, had not made any request to have the others excluded.

TARIFF AGREEMENT

Officially Stated Details Will be Settled Before Presentment

Washington.—The House, the Senate and the President came together informally for the first time on the preliminaries of tariff revision. A conference between the President and Chairman Simmons of the Senate Finance Committee, followed by a longer conference between a Senate sub-committee and Chairman Underwood of the House Ways and Means Committee, laid the ground work for a series of three-cornered conferences that are to follow before the Tariff Revision Bill is presented to Congress. The result of the discussions it was said was that the two Houses of Congress probably will be agreed upon the details of tariff revision before the bill reaches the House. The final details and desires of the President will also have been fully considered.

ACT AMENDED

Ontario Legislature Deals With Railways and Municipal Board Clause

Toronto.—In the legislature at the suggestion of Premier Whitney, an important amendment was made to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board act. The act as it came from the Ontario legislature gave the government power in-coune authority to set aside the decisions of the board. By the amendment made by Sir James this power can be exercised only in the appeal of one of the parties and the railway companies may prescribe for the violation of their by-laws by employees, was reduced from 10 to 5 per cent. upon the suggestion of Charles MacKenzie (Kenora). The by-laws for the violation of which the penalty may be imposed relate to time tables, the smoking of tobacco and similar punishment.

MOURNING IN GREECE

KING OF HELLENES A VICTIM OF ASSASSIN'S BULLET

King George of Greece was shot down on Streets of Salonic, and Ancient Nation is Plunged in Mourning—Prince Constantine Will Succeed to Throne.

Salonic.—King George of Greece was assassinated while walking in the streets of Salonic, and his assassin was a Greek of low mentality, who gave his name as Aleko Schinas. He shot the king through the heart. The king was accompanied only by an old tailor, Con. Frangoulis. The assassin came up to him and fired one shot from a seven chamber revolver. The tragedy caused intense excitement. Schinas was seized and held in custody while the wounded king was lifted into a carriage and taken to Papagon Hospital. He was still breathing, but died within half an hour.

Prince Nicholas, the king's third son and other officers hurried to the hospital. Arriving first, Prince Nicholas summoned the officers and speaking in a voice choked with sobs said:

"It is my deep grief to have to announce to you the death of our beloved king, and invite you to swear fidelity to your new sovereign King Constantine."

Prince Constantine, who succeeds King George, is at present at Janina. He is expected to come here with all possible speed.

It is assessed that the king is 49 years of age. Upon being arrested he refused to explain his motive for the crime. He declared that his name was Aleko Schinas and in reply to an officer who asked him if he had had any quarrel with his country, answered that he was against governments.

Schinas maintained a perfectly impudent demeanor, which was suggestive of his being irresponsible for his actions.

Notwithstanding the rapidity with which the king received attention he was found to be dead on arrival at the hospital. His remains were at once taken throughout the city and perfect order is being maintained.

The king fell into the arms of his aide when shot. Two soldiers ran up on hearing the firing and helped to support him. He was placed in a carriage and efforts were made to stop the bleeding, but he breathed his last on the way to the hospital nearby.

When Prince Nicholas, the new King, arrived, he was received by the officers to swear fealty to Constantine, they shouted: "Long live the King."

Prince Nicholas is the only member of the Royal family in Salonic. Mourning emblems are displayed everywhere.

The Greek government has issued a proclamation announcing that the oath of fealty to King Constantine has been taken.

Since his triumphal entry into Salonic, the king had been accustomed to take an afternoon walk to the famous White Tower or to the cavalry barracks in Lesser Karabagh.

The king's influence in the popular was so great that he went about freely, accompanied only by a single escort. The danger of this custom was apparent to the king, who, in spite of his escort, who repeatedly, but without avail, requested His Majesty to permit the presence of civil guards.

On the day of the king's arrival, orders were given to follow the king but their presence was considered so objectionable by His Majesty that the number was reduced to two. These followed at some distance.

Canadian Teachers Welcomed to Jersey

London.—Jersey will give a very hearty welcome to the Canadian teachers, if they decide to accept the invitation to visit the Channel Islands this year.

Sir William Vernon, chief magistrate of Jersey, is taking a deep interest in the proposed visit, and arrangements are being made for a number of entertainments of a social and similar entertainments which are a charming feature of the life of these islands. It is hoped that the visitors may be able to spend a few days on the way to the Channel Islands, the towns and the various municipalities are combining to prepare an extensive programme of hospitality in honour of the Canadian teachers.

IMMIGRATION FIGURES

Winnipeg.—Although the increase in the immigration into Canada during February was a little less than in the first month of the year, the figure for an increase of 20 per cent. over the corresponding month in 1912.

In February, 1913, those entering Canada by way of the ocean ports totalled 6,776 as against 5,389, in the corresponding month of 1912, an increase words an increase this year of 26 per cent.

Total arrivals from the United States, on the other hand, showed a decrease of 3 per cent. compared with February, 1912. Last year the total was 5,752, while last month it only reached 5,572.

SETTLERS FLOCKING IN

Calgary, Alta.—Hundreds of settlers flocking into the West, particularly into the prairie provinces, according to Provincial Publicity Commissioner Charles Hotchkiss. For the past 30 days every train leading into the Grand Valley country has been black with homeseekers, many of whom are taking in with them stock, farm implements and provisions enough to last for a year.

OPEN MANY HOMESTEADS

Edmonton.—Nearly 120,000 homesteads will be opened up along the lines of the Canadian Northern railway in the three prairie provinces, according to Governor Scott, assistant territorial police agent. He was here. Forty thousand homesteads will be opened in Edmonton and Peace River districts.

His satisfied expression tells the story of perfectly assisted vision, well fitted frames and an address that he carries in the crown of his hat, the address of the

Best Occulist

He's met yet—OUR ADDRESS. None of us would trust our precious eye-sight to a tinker. Yet that's what lots of us do daily when we place ourselves in the wrong hands. DO YOU know where EYES can be bought? There's a million dollars awaiting that secret. WHY?

Alex. Cameron

Practical Watchmaker and Optician
Issuer of Marriage Licenses

Coleman

Alberta.

"The Store The People Own"

COLEMAN

SPECIALS FOR MEN

The Great Turnover Sale
Continues. Men's fine shoes, regular $4.25 to 4.75; all at $2.50

Men's Suits all new this season, regular $7.50 to $15

ALL AT REG. PRICES

The transfer of the company to the new Co-Operative Society will take place in a few weeks. In getting ready for stocktaking we are turning out all goods and there are bargains in summer ready-to-wear and in fact in all departments.

Look through the store day by day as no odd lots will be carried over to the new Co-Operative.

Western Canadian

Co-Operative Trading Co'y

